- Small piece of floral foam for dry flowers, 1 x 60cm dowel rod, glue gun, narrow double sided tape.

Estimated Labour time: 15 minutes

Construction Method:

1. Insert the dowel into the uninflated 360S balloon, stretch the balloon fully over the dowel and tie off. Glue the floral foam into the bottom of the bucket and insert the covered dowel.
2. Make 2 clusters of 4 balloons with the 5" Pink latex, one to 3.5" and one to 3". Wrap them together to form a collar and wrap this onto the top of the dowel.
3. Inflate the standard foil balloon with air. Run a strip of double-sided tape all around the seam, then tie it into the collar of 5" latex balloons.
4. Inflate the pink 160S balloon to about 18" (45cm) and twist a string of small, evenly sized bubbles. Twist the knot end into the latex collar, then lay the string of bubbles along the seam of the foil balloon (onto the double-sided tape) all around the balloon. Twist the other end into the collar, deflating any unnecessary bubbles.
5. Repeat step 4 with the white 160S balloon, wrapping the bubbles around the dowel from the collar to the foam. Tie off at the bottom and deflate any unnecessary bubbles.
6. Fluff out the Tulle Fluffy, and push into the bucket, gluing in place, to conceal the mechanics. Add a bow of tulle to the collar.
7. Inflate the MiniShape balloon with air, heat seal, and add to the bucket, gluing in place.

Extra weight can be added to the bucket if desired, before adding the fluffy decoration.
Note that this design can be easily adapted for baby boys by changing the colours and the design of the foil balloon!
